

JUROR'S STATEMENT:

The exhibition of local talent on display current at Boca Raton High School is a reflection of the broad range of voices in the visual arts in Palm Beach County. It also touts the next wave of young talent now emerging through the education system here.

The first participants are of the Boca Artists Guild. These are for the most part, established polished voices in the arts. Each artist has a technique or medium they are comfortable exhibiting. The artworks ranged from very well executed collage, to watercolors, painting, and photography. Because the exhibit is smaller in numbers than some of the larger exhibits in the past, the focus is distilled. Each artist has submitted his or her finest stuff and it shows well.

The co-exhibitors are the talented high school students of Boca Raton High School. Here too, one finds many levels of achievement in numerous traditional mediums. There is experimentation and there are pieces with strong narratives, reflecting the individual spirit or the "gestalt" of what it means to be exploring one's emerging talent and the society we live in currently.

There were mostly representational examples, as numerous students employed compositional formats- such as triptych and multi-panel canvases to expand the scope of their message. Overall the quality was solid, well worth viewing and a few elegant surprises in the mix!
